Academic Interest and Expertise:

My interest as an academic lays on the historical development of education in India. This pertains to how the socio-economic dynamics have come on to shape the academic discourse on education especially in the context of access, right and development of education. I do have a special interest to undertake study on the evolution of education and its policy implications on a subaltern perspective.

Extra Curricular Activates:

I have led the NSS programme for six years while in Sohela College. It was an occasion and rare experience to understand on the potential of youth and its positive channelization. I ^{am} a regular columnist in Darpan a local literary journal which provides me some space for reflection an throw my insight in to the social realities.
